

Dave Heilmann

Standard Introduction

Our speaker authored the hysterical book Home School Hell with Saint Corona Up to Bat, which captured the humorous daily struggles of a widowed father sentenced to remote home school learning. He also is the co-author of The Leadership Renaissance where Dave shares his strategies on the use of humor, the # 1 method of engagement today.

While Mayor of one of Illinois' largest municipalities, Dave was featured on Good Morning America for putting "In the naaaame of love" and other humorous sayings under his community's stop signs. He was also selected to play a humorous judge for a season of a network television show. Our speaker has trained and performed in professional comedic improv, has decades of courtroom experience, and was a humor columnist for Chicago Lawyer magazine.

Please welcome an attorney with sense of humor, Dave Heilmann.
